Good Listening Questions when Chatting with a Hindu

A very important part of sharing the Gospel with Hindu chatters is to approach them with an open heart and posture. While it is true that you want to share with them the ONLY way to God, through Jesus Christ, they will likely not be able to hear you until they know that you have heard them. This makes Listening Questions even more important in a chat with a Hindu. Here are some questions you can ask to demonstrate that you want to hear them. It is important that you not argue with them as they share. They will likely share things that conflict with Christian beliefs, but that's OK. Instead of arguing, let's listen to them and their experience so we can be like Paul who was able to tell the Athenians about their Unknown God.

Download the document above to use as a handy resource when you are chatting with a chatter from India. If you cannot view or download it above, you may do so here: https://docs.google.com/document/d/1e93B44B3F9H_7z6YnSF-M4sWj4bVwDXTeXp0_sn2em4/edit?usp=sharing

To see this cheat sheet and its attached documents, please visit https://groundwire.360learning.com/course/play/68911c04b60aebab38a93a7e